

Room 2: Montgomery Apple – Location #1

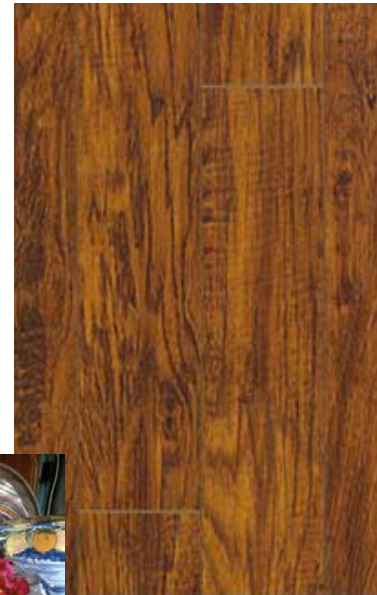

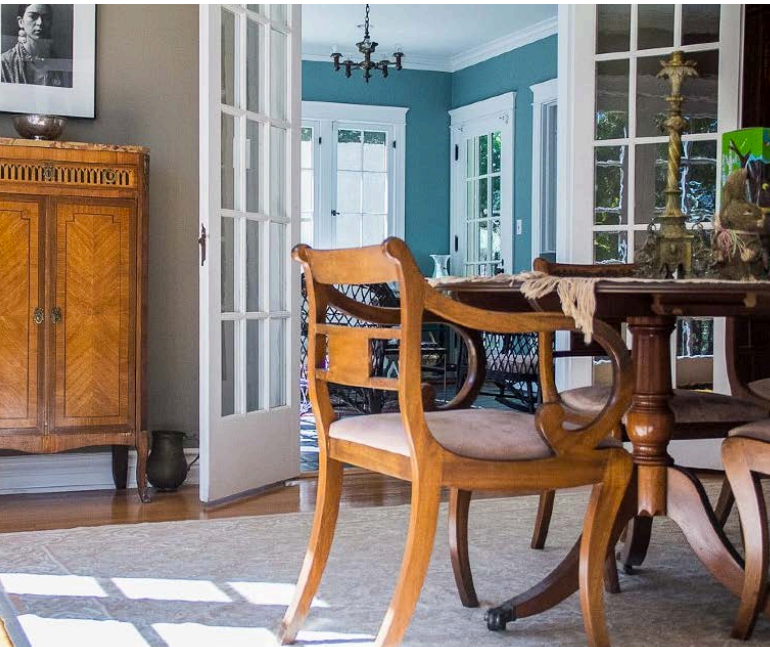

Would like to find a way to pop a little more blue or more brights in this. Love the contrast of the midcentury bar stools. I think we should paint them blue or green. We could do that in post I know. But maybe we buy these and paint to use in the TV as well. Like the freshness of adding the midcentury chairs to this kitchen.

Room 4: Highland Hickory – Location #1

I love the midcentury table. Also like the pottery direction. I think we can ditch the raspberry, except as a pop of color. I kind of like the idea of putting some texture in the napkins. West Elm has really great napkin and placemat options – so maybe we can combine. I am wondering if we want to think about serving dishes or centerpieces with height.

Room 5: Curly Koa – Location #2

Loving the more subtle orange stripe. But we may want to get a little more white showing on the bed. Use the yellow as accents and keep the raspberry for pops of color. Perhaps a simple white vase with some Gerber daisies. Look at keeping the big overstuffed chair with a throw, but maybe new nightstands. They should be mid-century inspired.

Room 6: Sugar House Maple – Location #2

The Wingback is a cool shape and kind of an interesting contrast to all the straight lines in the room. I can't really see the material — I'm assuming it's linen. Love the nail heads on the chair. I think we pull our colors from the pillow at bottom right. For a more contemporary spin CB2 has wingbacks in gray and yellow – don't know if they would be in stock.
